Abstract

By searching in the subject of this Thesis, all that is enjoined by the lawgiver is of goodness, and all that is forbidden is corruption, the good is all urgent and delayed in good, and all evil is urgent and delayed in corruption.

And the spread of righteousness and the eradication of corruption based on the ordered of virtue, and the prevention of evil, the entire communities and its members live by righteousness, and die by corruption, the righteousness is word Includes all good and virtue, and corruption is a collective term for all evil and vice.

The importance of this study is that it has a strong relationship to the life and death of the nation. The nation lives and wins by the righteousness, dies and is defeated by corruption on the one hand. On the other hand, the wise lawgiver ordered or forbade anything except for a purpose and intend. The Holy Qur'an and the Sunnah have many evidences that show the importance of spreading goodness and cutting off corruption.

In this study, I have used the inductive method. by collect many evidence from the Holy Quran, the Sunnah, and the words of the Companions, after that I analyzed and commented upon on it, in line with the subject of this study.

I have reached the following conclusions in my Thesis is: that the spread of goodness and the eradication of corruption is a great and general purpose of Islamic law. The nation's system, its survival, and its continuation depend on the spread of goodness and the eradication of corruption. If there is die out goodness and corruption spreads, the necessities are wasted and people are punished.

And the present Thesis contains recommendations: It is necessary for people to strive to spread goodness and cut off corruption, and it is necessary to hold seminars and lectures to teach people about goodness and spreading it, and warns them against corruption, and invites them to fight and leave it.
