

-

1434 - 2013

:

2013/5/22 :

شكر وتقدير :

:

2005

Passenger Transportation in Islamic law “ Figh”

Prepared by: Midhat Mohammad Ismail Mubarak

Supervisor: Dr. Mohammad Saleem

Abstract:

Transportations rules and regulations is a new and important case study needs detailed research from the Islamic law point view. Islamic shareeha is concerned with public safety, fairness, and all rules and regulations concerning transportations. The descriptive and inductive approaches are used in this research to produce the results of the study.

Palestinian law 2005 considers passengers transportation as a contract between two parties which is in full support of Islamic law, based on rules concerning old transportation methods.

The main results of the study indicates that violations of the traffic laws, leadings to facilitates are considered crimes punishable by Islamic Shareeha.

The Palestinian law and Islamic fish are in agreement on persecuting traffic violators, sense it construct the lack respect to human lives and waste state resources.

Islamic laws protect the consumers and guarantees human rights with respect to transportation laws and emphasize fairness on the prices of fuel and vehicles. Therefore, it is imperative to apply Islamic laws fully regarding transpiration to maintain law and order and avoid corruptions and manipulation among the people.

:

)

(1) . (

)

(2) (

)

(3) . (

:

.

.102 : (1)

.1 : (2)

.71 : (3)

:

)

(.

:

:

-1

-2

-3

:

-1

-2

-3

-4

:

-1

-2

:

:

-1

"....":

{....}:

-2

(....) : -3

[...] : -4

-5

-6

:

:

-1

. 2008 : -

: : -2

: -3

: : -4

.

: -5

. 2001

<http://www.alifta.com>

: -6

:

: -1

. 2005 :

: -2

. 2009 :

: -3

. 2012 :

:

:

:

:

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

